There is no place on earth like Michel-Schlumberger Benchland Wine Estate. European-style winemaking utilizing 15 varietals on 100 organically farmed acres that incorporate beehives, beneficial insectory, bird and wildlife sanctuary, fish-friendly farming and the most fascinating human terroir around. Our wines will capture you.

Montemaggiore, which means great mountain in Italian, represents the dream of Vincent and Lise Ciolino who specialize Syrah and Cabernet Sauvignon from their estate vineyards in the mountains high above Healdsburg. Vincent is the organic and biodynamic winegrower, while Lise makes the wines—together they produce elegant, distinctive wines and olive oils that reflect the strength and vitality of their secluded mountainside estate.

Preston of Dry Creek is a creek-sited diversified organic farm that is crazy about fermentation: wine, bread and pickles, olives and kraut. Animals in the vineyard, vegetables, fruit, grain and hedgerows everywhere; traditional polyculture at its messiest, tastiest and most provocative. Come explore.

The Green Trail of Dry Creek Valley is a special, customized experience for visitors to the Dry Creek Valley who wish to explore the area's certified organic and certified biodynamic wineries. Participating properties include Hawley Winery, Michel-Schlumberger, Montemaggiore, Preston of Dry Creek, Quivira Vineyards & Winery and Truett Hurst Winery. The Winegrowers of Dry Creek Valley™ have partnered with h2hotel to offer Sonoma County visitors a unique experience. The tour begins at check-in at the hip, new h2hotel in Healdsburg, the little sister property of Hotel Healdsburg, where you'll receive a welcome bottle of delicious Dry Creek Valley wine. Then, grab a bicycle and your eco-friendly picnic bag and get on your way! You will receive complimentary wine tastings at each of the participating wineries as you make your way along the tour. You can also expect a lively discussion at each of these wineries about how they became certified organic or biodynamic, how this affects their wine and why they feel it is important to be green!! Go to h2hotel for more details and book now!
